Dear Friend,

How are you? I just had to send a note to tell you how much I love you and care about you.

I saw you yesterday as you were talking with your friends. I waited all day hoping you would want to talk with me also. As evening drew near, I gave you a sunset to close your day and a cool breeze to rest you — and I waited. You never came. Oh yes, it hurts me — but I still love you because I am your friend.

I saw you fall asleep last night and longed to touch your brow, so I spilled moonlight upon your pillow and face. Again I waited, wanting to rush down so we could talk. I have so many gifts for you! You awakened late and rushed off to work. My tears were in the rain.

Today you looked so sad — so all alone. It makes my heart ache because I understand. My friends let me down and hurt me many times too, but I love you.

Oh, if you would only listen to me. I love you! I try to tell you in the blue sky and in the quiet green grass. I whisper it in the leaves on the trees and breathe in the colors of flowers. I shout it to you in mountain streams and give the birds love songs to sing. I clothe you with warm sunshine and perfume the air with nature scents. My love for you is deeper than the ocean and bigger than the biggest want or need in your head. Oh if you only knew how much I want to walk and talk with you. We could spend an eternity together in heaven.

I know how hard it is on this earth, I really know! And I want to help you. I want you to meet my Father. He wants to help you, too. My Father is that way you know.

Just call me — ask me — talk with me! Oh please don't forget me. I have so much to share with you!

Alright, I won't bother you any further. You are free to choose me. It's your decision. I have chosen you and because of this I will wait — because I love you!

Your Friend,
Jesus ✠

YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND!

When you're down and troubled; and you need some loving care;
and nothing, nothing is going right,

Close your eyes and think of me, and soon I will be there, to brighten up even your darkest night.

You just call out my name, and you know wherever I am, I'll come running to see you again.

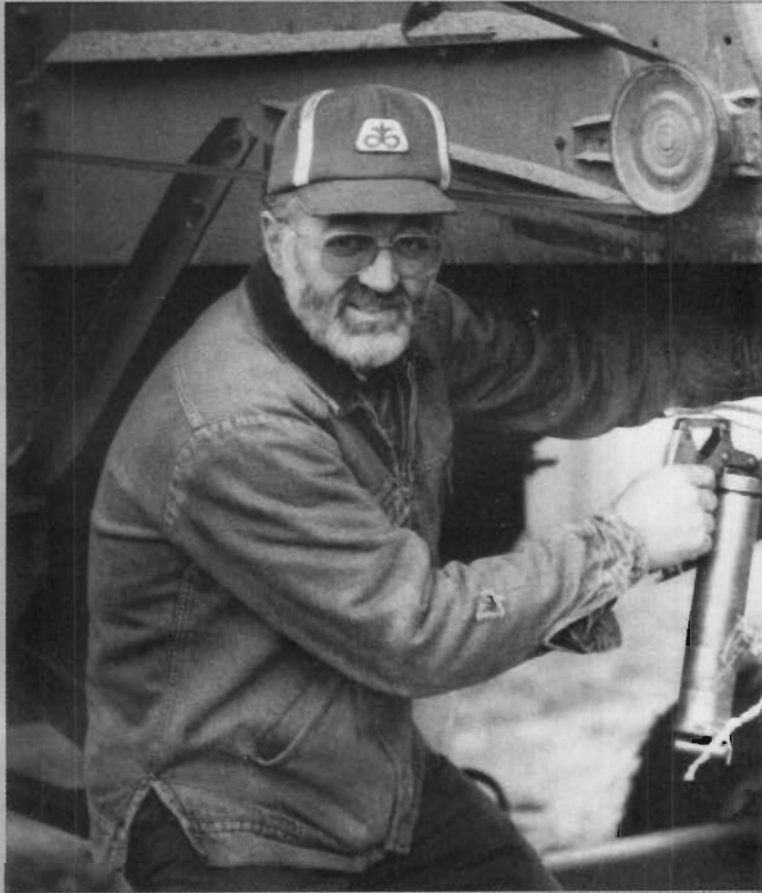

Winter, Spring, Summer, or Fall, all you have to do is call and I'll be there.

You've got a friend.

Dedication

Milt maintaining the equipment.

Putting up flagpole after painting.

Talking with Bill Hinman.

Greasing those wheels.

We would like to dedicate this yearbook to you Milt, for the six years that you have made us proud of our clean and well kept campus. We also appreciate so much the emergency jobs that you always do for us, like returning hot water to the showers, bringing heat back into the rooms to make them toasty warm, and the not so pleasant task of unplugging toilets. Not only were you someone to supply our maintenance needs, run the farm, take care of the grounds, and provide transportation, you were also a "dad", friend, and faculty advisor, which is exactly what we the students wanted and treasured. Although we may not always show our gratitude, we want you to know that we thank you and love you very much, and hereby dedicate this 1986 Maplelog to you.

Milt Guthmiller

Principal's Message

Secretary Furst.

Paul admonished the Christians at Phillippi to think on things that are pure, lovely and are of good report (Philippians 4:8). Thinking about such things brings us closer to God and to a great degree shapes our concept of Him. Such thought patterns originate from our sensory experiences: seeing, hearing, touching, tasting and smelling. These senses are avenues of information to the mind and provide the basis of our thoughts. Paul's appeal is to all Christians to guard these avenues that we might have a right understanding of the nature of God.

It is a major purpose of Adventist schools such as Maplewood to help young people develop lifestyle habits that result in a closeness to God and a proper understanding of His nature. To this end the program of the school suggests appropriate sensory experiences. When these experiences focus on the pure, the lovely and that which is of good report, we come to know God as He really is. It is my hope that students of Maplewood will guard the avenues to the mind that they might know God.

Principal Lyndon G. Furst.

Underclassmen

A friend is someone to call upon during good times and bad times.

Friendships were started and continued with each different class. Freshmen, just beginning, made new friends, had different classes, and had to experience being the youngest in the school. But you succeeded and are on your way to another brand new year. Sophomores and juniors having been here a year or two, continued on with old friendships while making new ones. You were used to the surroundings and were the ones who carried on tradition. Being considered underclassmen wasn't always the most fun, but it won't be long and you'll be the oldest.

A friend is someone who tells you the truth about yourself.

It's all over. You should be proud of yourself. You've gone from being the youngest to being the oldest. Remember when you thought graduation would never come?!? After you've gone away from here you'll remember the classes, the teachers, the experiences you've had. But what will stick in your mind the longest will be the friends you've made. Your friendships began when you came, and changed throughout the years. Yet even with graduation those friendships will never end. Friends and the memories you have of them, no one can take away.

Faculty and Staff

A friend is someone who is concerned with everything you do and think.

The faculty added another aspect of our friendships here at Maplewood. We commonly think of faculty as those who teach our classes, mark us tardy, or send out bills. It isn't often we think of their other side, the dedication, the time and patience put into each class, and most importantly the friendship they show to each and every student. The faculty were special friends. Not only did we joke around with them, play along side them in intramurals, but we were always welcomed to talk to them about problems or to ask them for tidbits of wisdom. Our campus friendships wouldn't have been complete without them.

Religious Activities

A friend is someone who supports you at all times.

Religious activities played a big part on the campus. There was Sabbath School, church, and vespers. This year something new was added to the religious aspect of school, religious outreach through campus ministries. In this was included a Christian drama, clown ministries, adopt a grandparent, and Bible Bowl. Through these we were able to show our friendship with peers and God.

Pastor Veal prepares for meeting

"Jesus and Our Lives" was the theme that Pastor Ken Veal spoke about during Week of Prayer. Each morning and evening everyone met in the chapel for a new and different talk. Pastor Veal, each meeting, spoke about a new topic yet kept it fit within the theme. Week of Prayer showed us how we as students can have Jesus in our daily lives.

Organizations

A friend is someone who does not compete with you.

These clubs were what brought all your friends and you together. In these you combined your interests and friendships. There was music, sports, publications, and many more things to get involved in. There were tours to go on, games to play, and deadlines to meet. All these were more fun and easier because of friends.

A friend is someone who understands whatever you do.

Classes, work, and roommates, who could forget?? This is where the majority of your time was spent. Here is where the friendships were made. Friends helped classes pass a little faster and work run just a little smoother. Important friendships were through roommates. These were friends that you lived with, shared space with, sometimes even argued with. But they were important friends who'll always be remembered.

A FRIEND IS

someone who knows what you are going through at all times,

someone who refuses to listen to gossip about you,

someone who is genuinely happy

for you when things go well,

someone who tries to cheer you

up when things don't go well,

an extension of yourself,

without which you are not complete.

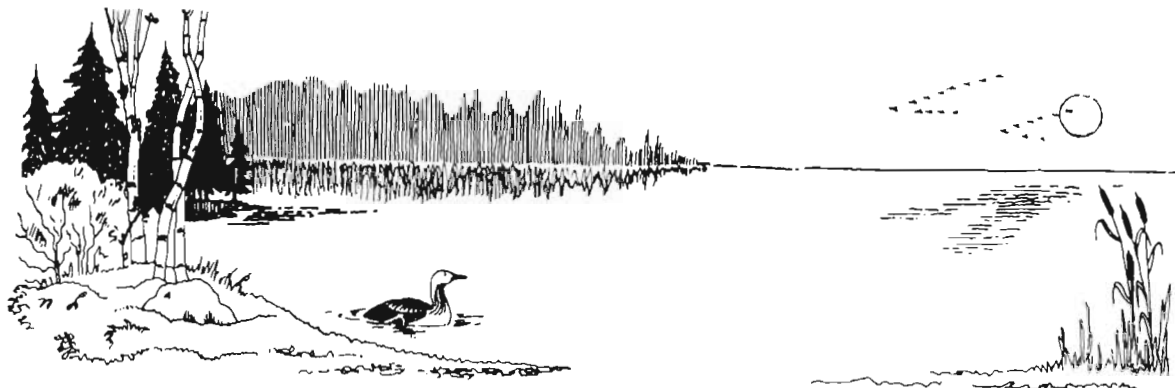

Thank you for being my friend

this year at Maplewood Academy!
