Maplewood Symphonette Appears In Concert

Courtesy Week At M. W. A.

Senior "Coming-Out"

February 6 was the day for the "unveiling" of the Senior class. When we entered chapel on Monday, we saw a throne in the middle of the platform. King George VII, after the opening exercises, entered and took his place on the throne. Dyre Dyresen, the Royal Chamberlain, came in to inform His Majesty that the royal citizens had chosen, by a democratic vote, the department heads for the new government. King George then asked them to enter. Fonda Conquest was introduced as the Prime Minister of the new government. She, in turn, introduced Dick Roderick as 1st Lord of the Admiralty or Vice Prime Minister, Barbara Vanderlaan as Lady Privy Seal or secretary, Eddie Hanson as Chancellor of the Exchequer or treasurer, and the Very Right Reverend Jerry Pettis D.D. as Archbishop of Maplewood and surrounding courts. The last to be named was Floyd Swanson as Minister of Justice. King George VII accepted the cabinet as a whole and the members of the Senior class, the winning party marched triumphantly to the platform, and were seated. They sang their class song and then Prime Minister Conquest gave a speech. Mr. Stone, in a short speech, congratulated the members of the class of '50, and challenged them in their new responsibilities, expressing his confidence that we would all find them to be true subjects and worthy citizens.

SENIOR DAY

"Everyone up and down to breakfast," calls our senior Dean of Girls, Nanette White. Oh, yes; today (February 7) is "Senior Day." Everyone yawns sleepily and rolls out of bed. We even have a senior matron for the day, as we find out when we get down to breakfast.

Seniors can look so dignified when they get to be principal, as Dick Roderick looked sitting at

"May I have a ticket, please?"
"Going somewhere?"

No, it was just "Courtesy Unlimited" bound to polish up our manners. It really did, too, and here's the reason.

On Monday, January 30, the officers of the student association of Maplewood presented the morning chapel program and explained to us the plans for Courtesy Week, which was to last until Sunday, February 5.

Each student received ten tiny square "tickets" and every time some student found another slipping up on his manners, he had to forfeit a ticket. This really kept us on our toes until Friday, when the cards were turned in and counted. Mary Jo Osvoild, one of the senior girls, was awarded a new book for having the most tickets.

Each day posters were made by different students, depicting good or bad manners. Nanette White, a senior, was awarded a prize for the best poster of the week.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday were chapel days, and a number of the faculty members gave talks on manners and behavior in public, in school, at the table, in church, and good citizenship in general.

On Sunday evening, February 5, a formal dinner was served in the dining room. Waiters and waitresses served the students at each table. At the honor table were seated the Courtesy king, Merlin Reeder, the Courtesy queen, Maureen Kiley, and their attendants, Irene Julius, Marjorie Ward, Irvin Olson, and Eddie Hanson. Jerome Brav welcomed the students to the dinner and while recorded music was played everyone enjoyed the delicious meal.

Everyone learned that courtesy really pays, and that we need to be courteous wherever we go. Courtesy speaks a universal language, and is a letter of credit all over the world.

Gleams of Gold

We are always happy to have visiting ministers with us over the weekends. Elder Archbold of the Duluth church was here the weekend of January 21 and 22. We had a testimony meeting to begin the second semester right and also a very interesting sermon on "The little things," for the Friday evening Vesper service.

Elder Harold Wernick of Mankato was with us Friday and Sabbath, January 27 and 28. Mr. Firth, our accountant, led a very inspirational song service and also conducted the Vesper service on Friday evening, February 3. Elder Dyresen gave a short sermon on the following day, which was followed by the Ordinances.

Elder Schander of the Brainerd church brought some very inspiring messages to us for the Vespers and also the church service on February 10 and 11. Elder Stone, our principal, spoke about the Spirit of Prophecy on Sabbath, February 18.

The Missionary Volunteer society has organized a Sunshine Band, which will sing on Sabbath afternoons at the hospital, for shut-ins, and those who need some "cheering up." We hope that we may be a light on a hill, bringing cheer to those who are less fortunate than we.

TEMPERANCE CHAPTER ORGANIZED

Elder E. F. Finck, our new Home Missionary and Sabbath school secretary and Elder C. E. Guenther, the Union Home Missionary and Sabbath School secretary, both members of the American Temperance Society, were with us February 13 and conducted the chapel program. Elder Guenther talked to us about temperance and passed out pledge cards for us to sign. He then told us about the chapters of the American Temperance Society which are sponsored by the National Society for our colleges and academies and asked if we would like to organize one here at Maplewood. Of course the vote was unanimous and we nominated, by secret ballot, those whom we would like to have for leaders. He

Triple M Singers Appear in Program

The Maplewood Symphonette appeared in their first formal concert of the year in the Academy chapel on Saturday evening, February 11. If you were one of the many visitors, you were delighted and thrilled to listen to the various numbers given by this group of youthful musicians under the direction of Milo W. Hill, music director of Maplewood Academy. They presented their very fine concert to a large appreciative audience of over 300 people, including many relatives and friends of the students as well as friends from the city of Hutchinson.

To you who could not be there to enjoy this concert with us, we give you the program as follows:

The first number was "Hansel and Gretel" by Hunperdinet, a delightful piece based on an old folk tale well-known to children. Then followed "Country Dance," by Elwood, a short number in tapping of feet rhythm, "One Fine Day," by Puccini, a military piece giving to the listeners in music language a picture of the cavalry, "Tannhauser," a rendition of the selection from Richard Wagner's opera and "Intermezzo," a fast rhythmic little number which made everyone feel happy and gay.

Eleanor LeBard, one of the trumpeters of the Symphonette, then played a solo by Coardasby Monti, after which the entire group played two numbers: Fosselli's "Serenade" and "Dream of Olwen."

The Maplewood Madrigal singers appeared in concert for the first time this year, and sang three very delightful numbers: a Swiss "Skiing Song," "Cool Water," and "I Miss my Swiss Miss."

"Honor Students," a pep march by Raymond, was next on the program by the Symphonette and then the piece that is so familiar to all of us, "Grandfather's Clock."

A national medley, including favorite melodies from the North and from the South was played in honor of Lincoln's birthday. "The Danube Waves" and "The Tournament March" concluded the evening concert. Much credit is due to Mr. Hill and his faithful groups of musicians for their fine evening's performance, and also to the students who so ably introduced each number on the program.

To the readers of the Northerner who are subscribing to it for the first time through the efforts of our December campaign, we offer thanks for your patronage thus far and we hope that you have found these first three issues interesting and enjoyable. It is our task and pleasure to print the paper and your choosing to read it. We also would like to give space to thank those who have written articles, guest editorials, and other contributions that have benefitted the Northerner from month to month.

The month of February is now half completed. What has it brought you thus far? If we were printing a newspaper, our columns would be full of amazing facts and our headlines would tell of tragedy; we wouldn't have to look far around to see these things. Both you and I have read of the startling occurrence that took place in this locality. The comparatively young victim had little or no thought that he would meet death under such circumstances. As a matter of fact, he probably had his future or immediate future quite well-planned because of the type of profession he followed. His end came quickly, suddenly, and that is just one of many. Life is at a premium, but it can be and is smothered out too fast to make this premium of highest value.

To others, this month has brought happiness and joy; maybe because of some happening or maybe just because they're living. But I wonder, how many people are happy and thankful to be alive? Very little thought is given to that. It's just one of those things, taken for granted by most of us.

We are witnesses of a fast age. Everything has been stepped up to a roaring pace and one cannot possibly keep up with all the trends of time. That has become an increasing excuse for all of the liquor consumption. To find a way out of their cares and nervousness, many seek alcohol as a refuge. I guess it does subdue their nerves for a while; it also subdues the budget.

February is a month of the great men also; freedom-loving, upright citizens. They were the father of our country and the freer of our slaves. Yes, Lincoln and Washington deserve much credit, with a host of others, who have founded this nation and brought it to the place it holds today.

Crescit Eundo:

After study period on January 31, the girls of West Hall met in the playroom on fourth. We sang several familiar choruses such as "In My Heart There Rings A Melody," "You Must Open the Door," and "Into My Heart" to open our meeting. Betty Forsberg had the Scripture reading and Irene Juluis led in prayer. Lois Daniels read an interesting poem entitled "Mary Ann's Luncheon." The remaining time was spent in pulling taffy. We all enjoyed this, although a few blisters appeared on some of the girls' hands. We look forward to our next interesting meeting of Crescit Eundo.

K.E.H:

One day during chapel, Mr. Stone was making the usual announcements about this, that, and the other, when bang! bang! bang! three firecrackers went off just outside the large chapel windows. Mr. Stone immediately dropped all announcements and proceeded to find out what was causing the racket outside. Presently Elder Dvresen entered from the boys' dorm and said that he saw two boys and three girls outside and that he had seen all that they did. Mr. Rankin brought Bob Parry and Merlin Reeder, the two boys in and Mr. Stone asked for an explanation. They didn't seem to be able to say much for themselves and so they were told in just so many words the seriousness of their offense. We were all beginning to feel very sorry for them when finally Merlin faced the student body and said, "You see it's this way. Boys' Open-House is going to be soon and we thought it should go off with a bang." Bob then told us that boys' Open house is to be February 26 at 7 p.m.

We of East Hall are now very busy with our rooms and halls getting ready for this event.

THE CLOCK WOULD STOP IF:

Orville Bleuer forgot to ask for a glass of water while going through deck.

Barbara Roland never said, "My wordy."

Athea Rea, Elaine Berglin and Barbara Barnort were quiet after lights out.

Lennie Colson wasn't singing all the time.

The monitors didn't have to push their little children into the rooms when lights go out.

There wasn't one day during the week when everybody feels blue.

The boys didn't wait till the last minute to ask the girls to Open House.

The students didn't gripe about something.

Miss Larsen didn't have to "convince" some of her students in English III class about grammar.

There were no absences some day.

No one went to sleep during chapel.

FLOYD P. GILBERT

This month we would like to present Mr. F. P. Gilbert, who is now in his second year as a faculty member of Maplewood. He came to us from Plainview Academy where he was principal.

He is now teaching Chemistry, Physics, and Shop. He also has charge of the heating system, which takes a great amount of time.

He says his pet peeve is "Waiting for people who aren't where they should be when they should be," which is a long way of saying, "People who are late." His favorite foods are raisin pie and chocolate cake. He says his hobbies are "Boat-riding and fishing," but we have noticed that he takes quite a few pictures with his flash camera. He has two sons: Don, 19, a sophomore at Union, and Orlo, 11, in church school.

Mr. Gilbert is a graduate of Union college and has taken some work at the University of South Dakota and at the University of Minnesota during the summers.

Maplewood Spice---

In Sabbath-school on January 21, we enjoyed an accordion solo by Yvonne Engberg. A vocal solo was given on January 28 by Frances Larson. Two piano solos, by Fonda Conquest and Ladelle Peterson, were given the weekend of February 3 and 4.

Mr. Hill had charge of the chapel period on January 23. Lois Thulin, Norma Carter, Laurell Peterson, and Mr. Hill played a clarinet quartette. The selection played was "Serenade" by J. Hayden. A vocal solo was sung by Donna Carlson, and Shirley Hanson played a violin solo. Then Mr. Hill played two saxophone solos, "Trees" and "Nola."

WE SAW YOU THERE

If you who are described in the following paragraphs can successfully identify yourself to the sponsor of the NORTHERNER, you will be awarded a candy bar. If some other individual is able to reach us before you do, we will award him the candy bar. (The person described in last month's NORTHERNER was Bob Parry. Wayne Fankhanel got the candy bar.)

We saw you in the main hall during chapel period on Tuesday, February 14. At exactly 10:55 by the library clock, you opened the door to the library, put your head in, and looked around the room anxiously, as if you were really looking for someone. You didn't come into the room nor say anything to the librarian about your defeated hopes. You were wearing a pair of grey trousers, and a light-weight jacket over a light shirt. Your hair is dark and slightly wavy. You were wearing a pair of light brown oxfords that had not been polished that morning. We couldn't identify your socks if they were shown to us, because we didn't see them. You have been at Maplewood for several years, and you seem to enjoy life here a great deal.

Your name is
Well, you tell us and we will give you a big candy bar.

Mr. Gilbert said that if the temperature drops any faster than it did here on Sabbath, January 28, we will need to put shock absorbers on the thermometers.

Barbara V.—"It's only seventeen below outside."

"Pinky"—"I'm going outside then."

Two girls sat reminiscing about their childhood days. Merrilyn Fowler said, "Remember the time we sat in the apple tree so long when we thought my mother was going to scold us?"

Mary Ann: "Yes, I surely do. Did we eat the dish that time or what was in it?"

One day in MUSIC SURVEY, the students were asked to tell what they had listened to over the radio outside of class. Mr. Hill asked Emily Hanson what she had listened to, and Emily answered, "To the Firestone Hour." Then she told the name of the song that she liked, which was "It is Wonderful." Mr. Hill asked her what was wonderful. Emily began to blush and said, "They tell me that falling in love is wonderful." We all began to laugh. Mr. Hill said that it is not so wonderful because when you fall in love, you cannot eat, nor sleep, nor study, and all you can see is a picture.

While checking in clothes out in the laundry one day, Donna Carlson came to Richard Hanson's laundry. On his list he had written, "Please write my name on my clothes. Mange tak!" (That means "Many thanks" in Norwegian.) Donna, not knowing that, faithfully wrote "Mange tak" on each article of clothing. Now Richard has a new name.

When the students in Symphonette wind their legs around the rounds of their chairs, Mr. Hill simply says, "Roderick," and then everyone comes to attention.

Two of the girls seem to be rushing spring. On their door they have a poem entitled "Spring Fever Rages Within." I guess the weather fooled them!

One evening during study period, Barbara Fish asked her roommate if she knew anything about music. Her roommate said, "Surely, I'll help you. What do you want to know?" Barb asked, "Will you tell me the names of the lines and spaces of the bass clef?"

"Oh, yes! f, g a, b, c, d, e, f, g." Then "Fishy," waiting patiently, piped up and said, "What's next?"

You see, she has just started to take MUSIC SURVEY.

Seniors on Parade

Gertrude Hanson: Gertrude came from Detroit Lakes four years ago. Her favorite sports are horseback riding and skating. Her hobby is animals. As to her favorite food, banana cream pie is tops. Her pet peeve is idleness. Gertrude's life ambition is to become a teacher.

Floyd Swanson: "Pinky," one of the "old-timers" who has been here all four years, comes from Benson, Minn. He has curly auburn hair and green eyes, and measures up to 5' 10". Pinky's favorite sports are basketball and football. He is one of our favorite basketball players, too. He says his pet peeve is somebody who will take a BIG BITE when offered something. Good Luck to you, "Pinky"! We know you'll succeed wherever you go.

Mary Ann Amundson: "Annie," as she is sometimes called, was born right here in Hutchinson, on August 28, 1931. She is 5' 2" tall, has blue eyes, a light complexion, and light brown hair. She has no particular hobby, but her favorite pastime is skating. Since Mary Ann is so full of fun, we could almost guess that her pet peeve is people who can't joke. When asked what her favorite food is, she just smiled and said, "Beans. I like everything with the exception of sauerkraut." Her favorite subject is Art and she likes American History least.

She does not plan to attend college next year.

Robert Parry: Bob, a black-haired, blue-eyed senior from Minneapolis, is one of our faithful night watchmen. He thinks it would be nice if he could stop and have a dish of chow mein, which is his favorite food, off and on while he is on nightwatch duty. When asked what his pet peeve is, he replied, without hesitation, "When the business office is running the electric adding machine and I am trying to listen to the radio." (You see, this causes a lot of static on the radio.) After a little thought, he decided that hockey is his favorite sport.

Nanette White: "Nan" always has a cheery smile for everyone. This senior girl is from St. Paul. She is 5' 3½" tall, and has brown eyes and dark brown hair. Her pet peeve is people who hold their trombones the wrong way. Nan is in Symphonette. Her favorite dish, she says, is anything when she's hungry. Nan's hobby is collecting pretty poems. Her favorite sports are football, skating and swimming.

Nan has been with us at Maplewood for three of her academy years. She plans to go to Southwestern Junior college and then take up elementary teaching.

Between The Bookends

The senior class had a very exciting day January 23. After chapel they went to the Seminar room and elected their officers for this year.

"Like Little Ladies Watching Wee Ways" is a very nice little club that has been started by a group of girls. From week to week they choose a topic in which they can improve themselves.

* * *

Verna Nordin was a very happy girl, when her father, whom she had not seen for two years, came to visit her.

* * *

The Symphonette has started to practice many new pieces, which are very pretty, for their next concert.

* * *

The new bass viol really keeps Peggy Olson busy. She shines it up every day, slick as a whistle.

The main hall really looks nice now. The boys scrubbed and waxed it one evening not long ago. The fellows are getting ready for Open House!

* * *

Mr. Johnson, the farm manager, was the victim of a very painful accident on Wednesday, February 3. His left hand came into contact with a belt on one of the machines in the shop, and as a result, two fingers were badly crushed. He spent several days in the Hutchinson Community hospital.

* * *

The Symphonette is growing fast, and we expect more students to join soon. Two new members have been added recently: Marcia Peterson, bass viol, and Joanne Rosenthal, cello. Mr. Hill has a new string class of eleven members this semester.

* * *

The semester grades were given out on January 30, and it looks as if some of us need to get down and "dig." What do you say, fellow students?

* * *

There are many girls who were made very happy February 14 due to the boxes of candy from the members of East Hall.

* * *

First floor hall on the girls' side has now become a part of West Hall. The walls were painted the same color as the other part of the dorm and it really looks nice now.

Mrs. Rea came out to Maplewood February 3 in her station wagon and took four girls, Betty Blake, Barbara Barnort, Elaine Berglin, and Althea Rea into Minneapolis for the weekend.

On the 26th of January, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vikingson came to have a short visit with their niece, Ivy Rushold.

* * *

"Pinky" and Bob had a full room last weekend when Clayton Blom, Gene Debolt, Dick Strom, and Vernon Thompson spent the weekend with them.

* * *

The members of the faculty enjoyed a Valentine party in the church school room on Sunday evening, February 12.

* * *

Mrs. Sorensen of Exira, Iowa, arrived in Hutchinson last Monday to spend the remainder of the winter with the Gilbert family. She is the mother of Mrs. Gilbert.

* * *

Several graduates and former students of Maplewood spent the weekend of February 11 here. Many of them came to hear the Symphonette concert, besides visiting friends and relatives among the students.

* * *

The students enjoyed the entertainments that were given them in the homes of the faculty members on Saturday evening, February 4. In most of the homes games were played and later in the evening refreshments were served. Everyone reported a good time, and ready for another Saturday evening like it in the near future.

* * *

Mr. Stone attended the meeting of the Conference Committee in the Cities on Tuesday, February 7.

* * *

Mr. Firth, in his last chapel period, read a part of his book, "Hey, Medic!" to us. It was very interesting.

The discouraging task of trying to keep the dormitories warm during this stormy, sub-zero weather doesn't seem to dampen Mr. Gilbert's good spirits. "But Mr. Gilbert," groaned a shivering student one morning, "It's ten o'clock and I can still see my breath in my room!"

"Well," said Mr. Gilbert with a grin. "Just be glad that you have some breath to see."

The "Leafs" were missing Burgeson but the "Loggers" had their main guards out of the game, Roderick and Fankhanel. The game didn't have a break in the first half but only a short time out about 15 minutes after the game started. The score at the half was 25-9, the "Leafs" leading. Then in the 3rd quarter the "Loggers" out-scored the "Leafs" 11-5 and the score was 30-17, the "Leafs" leading. The 4th quarter was fairly even, the "Leafs" getting 9, the "Loggers" 7. The "Leafs" won their first official game of the season by the score of 37 to 26. Hill made some nice turn-round push shots and Bray made a couple of fast breaks on several throws in which he made a couple of baskets. McKellip and Swanson also made some good shots, and Dickinson did some good faking and feeding.

The Maplewood team took the lead in the very beginning in the game with the Alumni and led 8-4 at the end of the first quarter. Maplewood kept their lead until the half by the score of 15-12, but the Alumni out-scored the Maplewood team 12-5 in the third quarter and the Alumni led 24-20. The Alumni kept their lead and won.

Pierce, Burgeson and Blom made some nice one-handed push shots from the corners. Swanson didn't hit with his jump shot as well as he has done in some of the other games, one reason being that he was guarded closely most of the time. Hill did a good job on his free throws. He got 4 in a row which is about the best anybody has done so far this season. Thomp-

The library has added a few choice books to its shelves during the first semester. The new Reading Course books hold first place in our interest and are welcomed by those who enjoy reading the best. The Senior course consists of five interesting books: "Christ's Last Legion" by Arthur Spalding, "Days of Destiny" by John McMillan, "Sky Pilot of Alaska" by Fern Owens, "Through my Binoculars" by Oren Durham, and "Ann of Ava" by Ethel Hubbard. The four books in the Junior set are all very interesting: "The Mighty Prince" by Meriin Neff, "Tommy Goes to Africa" by Oliver and Fredonia Jacques, "Really-Truly Stories" by G. L. Hayden, and "Rugby, the Mountain Buck" by M. E. Cason. These books will provide many hours of pleasurable, profitable reading for you.

For the history student, we have several books that will furnish information, and pleasure as well. "Our American Government" by Wright Patman and Funk and Wagnalls new "Year Book" are sources of information that will be used many times. "Land of Milk and Honey" by William L. White, and "The Rebel and the Turncoat" by Malcolm Decker will furnish both information and pleasure to their readers.

To the student of mathematics, we recommend "Fun With Figures" by Mae and Ira Freeman, and "Mathematics, Its Magic and Mastery" by Aaron Bakst. Both of these books contain many surprises for the curious ones who like puzzles with numbers and figures.

Come to the library and let us show you these new books.
