Mr. and Mrs. Howard Birch

We have been privileged to have a husband and wife team on our campus these past four years. It is wonderful to have life partners dedicated to the service of God. Your Christian influence and kind, gentle nature have won our hearts. As the feminine half of the team and our Home Ec. teacher, you have helped us develop many womanly graces. You are teaching us to become devoted wives, mothers, and homemakers, which will be very valuable in later life. The practical knowledge we have gained from your classes will carry us through all the joys and struggles of running a home. Whenever we have problems, such as a banquet dress not quite completed, a skirt that needs hemming, or help in preparing a Christmas treat for our soldiers in the service of their country, we know we will find a willing hand and a cheerful smile from you. You, as the masculine half of the team, have been an inspiring Spanish and shop teacher. You have blended the knowledge we must acquire for the class with the love of God. You have taught us boys many things that will be useful in the life ahead, not only as the "bread winner" in the family, but also as the handyman around the house. Together in Christ, you as husband and wife, have helped us realize the joys of a Christian home. In our appreciation and love for you, we, the editors of the 1969 Maple Log, dedicate this book to you, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Birch.

To You We Dedicate

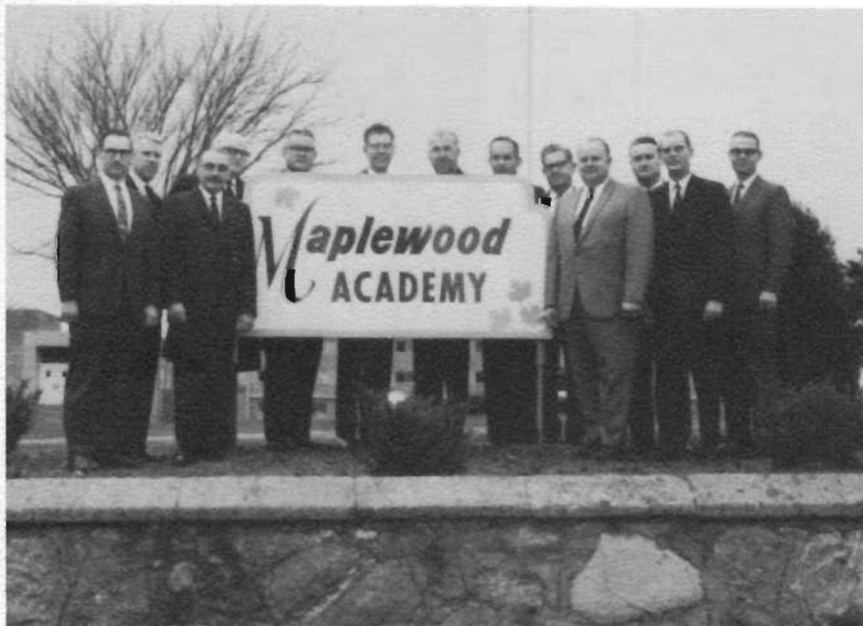

Elder Lyle C. Anderson
Principal

Much of the success of any school depends on its administrative board. Much of the recent year's success of Maplewood Academy can be attributed to the many long hours of planning by our board members. These men work as a team helping make possible building projects and further improvements in the school program. Our school is developing rapidly. For this we can be greatly thankful for it is a great part in the Lord's work that is started in such an institution.

Administration

Maplewood Academy Board

Kerwin Fowler

The former treasurer of Maplewood has accepted the position of assistant treasurer of the Northern Union Conference. They have taken not only Mr. Fowler, but also a cheery smile, a bunch of jokes, a butch haircut, and a capable and good-natured man. We wish him lots of success in his new position.

In Recognition

The Gerry Lanes have been with us for four years. Mr. Lane was assistant book bindery manager, and both he and his wife served as assistant deans. Much attention was given to Bryon, their little son who joined us last February. The choraliers were especially saddened to see the Lanes leave because Mr. Lane made a wonderful bus driver. We hope they will be happy at Wisconsin Academy where he will be managing the book bindery.

Foreword

Our life is a vast ocean. Our goal is to reach heaven's port. Each year we must cross waves of disappointment and endure the tempests and turmoils of life. Each wave crossed brings us that much closer to the port. As seamen of old looked to the heavens to guide their ships, so we must look to God to guide us over life's sea. As we gaze back over the waves of time, we can say, as many other alumni have said, that the years spent at Maplewood Academy are our high tide years. As the editors of the 1969 Maple Log, we have tried to preserve these years for you.

In Remembrance . . .

Jeffrey Allan Hutchins

In the last two years we have learned to associate laughter, willingness to work, a big grin, and mechanics with Jeff. Things haven't been quite the same without him. Jeff in his bakers' apron was a common sight in the kitchen. We always have to think twice when we see someone else doing his job. On the days when Jeff was absent, geometry class was a big bore. He had many close friends, and they had many affectionate nick-names for him, such as "Jeffreaka", and "Ffej".

There is seemingly a vacant desk in our classroom. His absence leaves a peculiar emptiness in our hearts. If only he could be here to experience all joys of his Senior year! God gives us no reasons for such a seemingly needless death, but we believe He knows what is best. "His will hath no why." It is our prayer that we will be reunited in heaven someday.

Elementary School

Mrs. Cecil Conquest enjoys helping her first through fourth graders learn their lessons.

Mrs. Kay Stillwell, who teaches grades 5-8, treats her class to a story.

The students of grades 5-8.

A little red school house? Not exactly. From the windows of Maplewood's Ad building, one can often see the students of the Hutchinson S.D.A. Elementary school playing on their play-ground. The school is small, but its teachers are dedicated and well qualified; its students are eager to learn, and its purpose is a noble one.

Religion

Vickee inspects her dress for Sabbath.

Worship by candlelight sets the reverent mood for the service.

The Arrival of Sabbath

Friday. Sometimes it just can't get here fast enough. This is the preparation day; the day to prepare for the Sabbath. We hurry from our classes to clean our rooms and get ourselves in readiness for the weekend. Supper, following worship, is especially good on Friday nights. Fresh rolls and fruit are a favorite of all. As the sun sinks in the west, and another busy week comes to an end, meditative students can be seen filing silently to the church for the vesper hour, the most cherished and remembered of the weekend services. This is the time when we can forget all of our cares and seek God in the quietude of the evening. Many have consecrated their lives as a result of the inspiring messages brought to us by various vesper speakers.

Friday night singspirations in the girls' dorm are a wonderful way to start the Sabbath.

Nothing wakes you up faster in the morning than a good, rousing song service and Sabbath School provides this stimulus. The superintendent then gives us a hearty welcome, which serves to brighten the morning. The mission story informs us of the work in other fields, and cause us to dig a little deeper for our offering. Lesson Study is a time for sharing ideas and opinions gained from a week's study. We bring various questions to our fellow students and teachers to be discussed. We leave Sabbath School for Church, having the enthusiasm and inspiration that can only be gained from Sabbath School attendance.

Missionary Volunteers!!

Carolyn Olson, organist; Gail Miller and Lorelee Estlick, Secretaries.

Everybody looks forward to the weekly Missionary Volunteer service. Generally planned by the students, it proves to be a very interesting and enjoyable part of the weekend. This Sabbath afternoon service provides an excellent opportunity for student participation. This year's services have included a variety of interesting programs including films, plays, and an occasional impromptu singspiration. We give special thanks to our helpers in the village; Elder Warner, Mrs. David Reed, Mrs. Roy Chaffee, Mrs. Fred Bitzer, and Mrs. Ed Kelly. Without their concern and efforts, our programs could not have been so successful.

Master Guide

A Master Guide is a trained leader. Master Guide training is fashioned to develop two types of leaders-for Senior Youth Leadership and for Junior Youth Leadership. The Master Guide club on campus is an organization in which the students of MWA have the opportunity for mental development and practical training, that they may know how to guide those whom they are to lead. The club is divided into two teams which provide friendly competition against each other. Each member strives to fulfill the requirements necessary with the goal of being invested in a state wide Youth Rally on April 26.

Master Guides help others to fulfill their requirements.

Crusaders

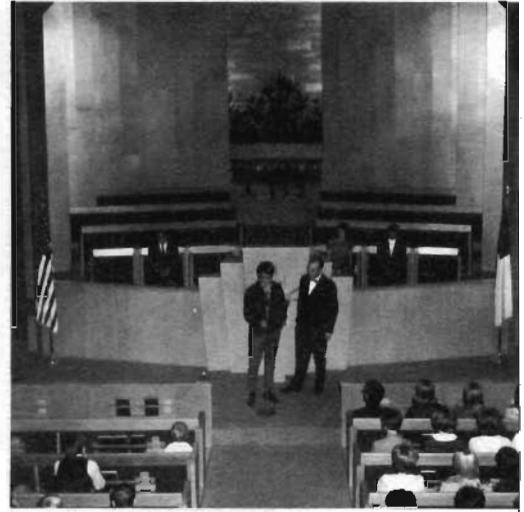

Randy Lund tries to find some hints on how to give a Sermon.

The duty of Maplewood Academy has been, through the years, to help its students find a meaningful spiritual, as well as academic, life. Many of the students search for a way to better understand Christ and to better explain Him to those they meet every day. The purpose of the Crusaders organization is to encourage these students and, by helping them to learn to speak in public before both Adventists and Non-adventists, to prepare them to take important positions in witnessing for Christ.

Regardless of the careers these students choose after they leave school, by learning now how to speak intelligently and confidently on the subject of their faith and their Lord they will become the leaders of our church. Crusaders exists to help the Christian youth attending Maplewood Academy find a way to help their fellow men now, while preparing to lead them in the future.

Wendy Johnston enjoys helping out with the Special Music.

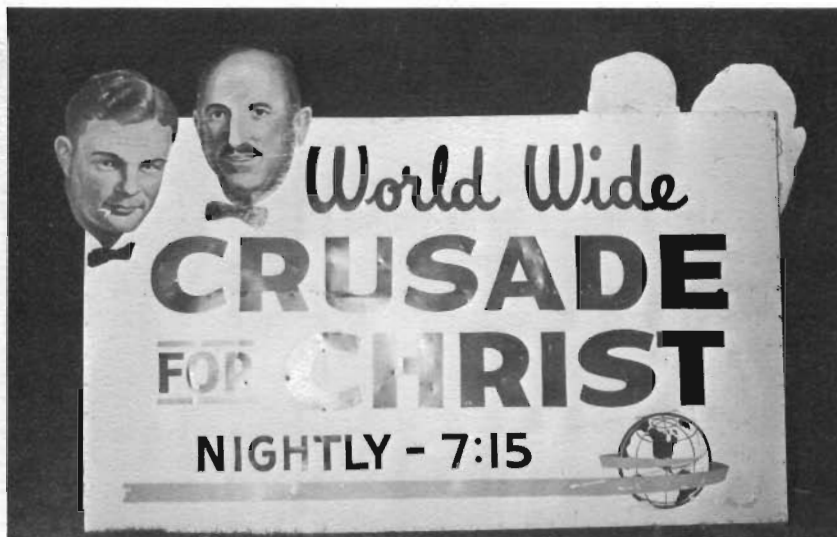

In an inspirational testimony meeting, Dan Rea relates blessings received from the Week of Prayer.

Week of Prayer

"Christ is the Answer" was the theme of the annual Fall Week of Prayer. Elder Lee Kretz directed our minds heavenward in two very inspirational meetings daily. Many were convicted anew of God's love, and many personal rededications were made. The week ended with a beautiful candlelight communion service, but the decisions made and victories won during this week have made a definite impact on all phases of school life throughout the year.

Elder Kretz helped many come to a fuller realization of the meaning of true Christian living.

The World Wide

This year we were very fortunate to have the "World Wide Crusade for Christ" with us. The Barron-Turner team consisted of Elder Barron, who spoke to us each evening from November 16 to December 13, his wife, Jeanne, who was the receptionist, Elder Turner, who let out in the singing and assisted Elder Barron in many ways, his wife Ouida, the organist, and Barb Oliver, the secretary.

During the first fifteen minutes of each evening, a very interesting film on the life of Christ was shown. The beautiful illustrations and Elder Turner's junior choir will long be remembered. Through their united effort, along with the help of our pastor and lay members, many souls were won to Christ.

Elder Turner and Elder Barron started each evening with a song.

Besides song services and solos, Elder Turner also presented the sermon one night.

The Team's quartet: Elder and Mrs. Barron, Barb Oliver, and Elder Turner.

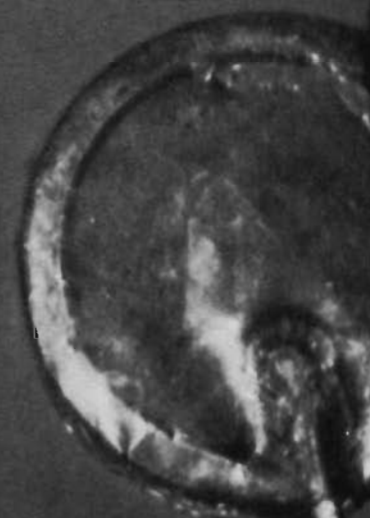

Crusade For Christ

Elder Barron's sermon and testimony inspire us all.

Elder and Mrs. Ray Turner represent true dedication to the Crusade for Christ.

Reflections of

The happenings of campus life are something not easily forgotten. From early morning until the time of slumber, students at Maplewood eagerly meet the day's activities. Studies and classes fill most of the day; but, there is always time for a rousing basketball game or an hour of roller skating. As students exit through the doors of Maplewood and continue their lives, they will reflect upon campus life.

..... quiet moments in solitude.

..... moments spent in contemplation.

..... insignificant things we never see.

..... joy and harassment.

..... hours spent in beneficial labor.

..... impossible dreams.

Tension is ??

Tension was !!

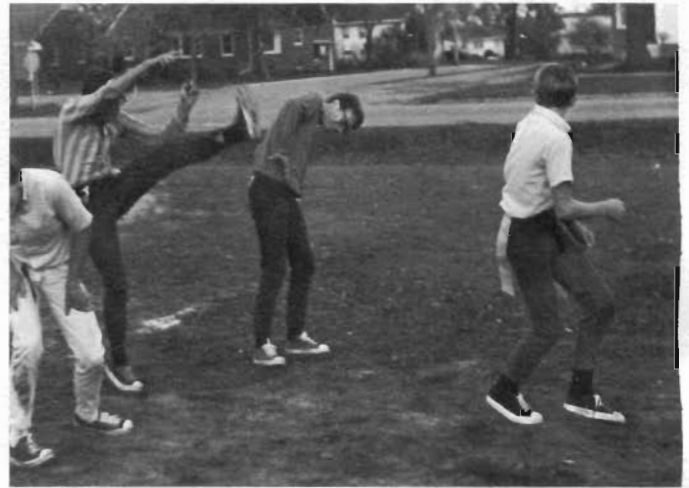

Ribbons, posters, and speeches added to the hustle and bustle of the election of new ASB officers for 1969. All this took place on Sunday night, January 13. The next day dawned crisp and bright, inspiring each candidate to pursue the coveted position with renewed vigor. The students eagerly exercised their voting privileges in Mr. Haas' office. That night everyone was tense as the campaign managers bid for their candidate in the ASB auction. Afterwards the winners were congratulated by all the well-wishers.

Old gives way to the new..

Fall Picnic

The school picnic dawned a bright, crisp, October morning. Tension was high in the air. Some of the activities of the day included shot put, high jump, relay races, broad jump, pole vault, three-legged race, mile run, football, and baseball. Competition ran high as classes vied for the top. After a delicious picnic lunch and supper, the entire student body gathered in the auditorium for chapel where the winners, the seniors, were announced.

Ken Vollmer starts the football game with a kick-off.

The students are eagerly anticipating the days activities.

Mr. America, alias Dick Baker, strains every muscle in an attempt to win the shot put.

What's a picnic without sloppy joes, grass, and people?

Halloween

The evening of October 31 was a typically spooky night. The Halloween Party started off with an obstacle course through bales of hay in the auditorium foyer. Mrs. Brown was the "witch of ceremonies." A skit was put on by Tim Herber, Bruce Christensen, and Wendy Wall; after which the "Sauerkrauts" played a toe-tapping polka. Screams could be heard from the girl's dorm recreation room where the spook house, sponsored by the girl's club, was located. We were more than ready for doughnuts and cider in the cafeteria after varied experiences with spaghetti and ketchup in the spook house. What's a Halloween Party without a hootenanny? Our guitar-strumming friends made sure that we had one. The evening was ended with old newsreels on World War II.

There was a kind woman who lived in a dorm.
She had many girls who would chatter and swarm.
Her day began with the first glint of sun
To keep track of girls who were bound to have fun.

A mother of one hundred girls was she
Caring for all most tenderly.
If one was discouraged and down at heart,
She'd comfort and guide them toward a new start.

We are the girls referred to above,
And dear Mrs. Lane is the woman we love.

Knights of East Hall

Ever ready for excitement and a good time, the sixty-five Knights of East Hall rarely experience a dull moment. A variety of activities is sponsored by the boys' club. Besides participating in intramural sports such as football, basketball, and softball, the guys enjoy an occasional evening of swimming. During the Christmas season, their serenades were really enjoyed by the girls, and contributed a lot to the Christmas spirit around campus. A highlight of the year's activities was the Open House Banquet, planned by both the girls' and boys' clubs.

On the afternoon of Feb. 9, a real commotion was under way. Everyone was cleaning! There were floors to be scrubbed, windows to be cleaned, furniture to be dusted, and a seemingly endless list of little trivial things to do. At last mops and brooms were put away and we hurried to get a quick shower and fuss over ourselves before the Open House Banquet. The cafeteria, lit by candlelight, was actually romantic and our dinner was superb. After our meal, we went by groups to tour the dormitories and ended up in the auditorium. We had a short program consisting of a vocal duet by Lavinne Ahrens and Mary Lou Hagele, a violin solo by Margie Krassin, and a vocal solo by Dan Rea. The film "Third Man on the Mountain" was then presented after which Tim Herber, Boys' Club president, presented the prizes to the "Open House" winners.

The Universal

11:30 is a favorite time for 20 of Maplewood's students. This is Chorallier practice time! We start out our practice time with a prayer by one of the members and then our director Mr. Leukert takes over. We must learn music for the Sabbath Service as well as secular numbers for Concerts. The choralliers are the traveling choir and we have many wonderful times going on tours and singing for the churches in upper midwest. Tours aren't only fun in view of singing, for going and coming on the MWA bus is a real picnic, and the hospitality of the people whose houses we stay at is wonderful, not to mention the food. Sharing our music and life at MWA with the churches not only entertains the people but also gives us a real appreciation for our school and what it stands for.

Maplewood Academy Choir under the direction of Mr. Klaus Leukert

Language

The melody of praise is the atmosphere of heaven. From week to week Maplewood choir members blend their voices for the church service. Each choir member receives from choir valuable experience and a sense of accomplishment. One of the highlights of the year's activities came during the Barron - Turner Crusade for Christ. The choir participated in the Drama of the Ages, a musical presentation depicting God's plan for man beginning with the creation of the earth. The choir officers are Charles Shields, President; Debbie Johnson, Vice president; Carleen Anderson, Secretary Treasurer; Carson Gardner, Pastor; Janet Aulick and Loralee Estlick, Librarians.

Band In Concert

With the generous offering given at the concert, the band purchased some new music stands.

Despite snow and icy roads many turned out for our first band concert of the year. It all started out with the roll of the snare drum and "The Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. Brown carefully planned the program to fit everyone's likes. There was rousing, toe-tapping music as well as placid, meditative numbers. The grand finale was the "MWA" formed by the band marching.

"Oh no! My reed just broke! Where is my mouth piece? This valve on my horn is stuck. Who has the cork grease?" These are some typical sounds you might hear on Monday and Wednesday at five o'clock. This is band practice time. Our band president calls us to order, and the pastor has a short prayer. Then, Mrs. Brown takes over. Her enthusiasm and skill take us through a rousing 45 minute period. Band tours have been some of our favorite activities. We have gone to southern and northern Minnesota. Giving concerts to various churches is the peak of our goal. Thanks go to Mrs. Brown for her encouragement and confidence in us.

"Enthusiasm" is jumping for joy because you have won the Maple Leaf Campaign.

The lyceum was well under way. An agile young man was displaying his talent on the trampoline. He asked Keith Heinrich to come up to the tramp to demonstrate how easy jumping really could be. Keith seemed to be doing great when suddenly he slipped and was rolling in agony. A siren sounded and Beth Johnston and Colleen Kelley arrived on the spot with a first aid kit. When the kit was opened the only thing inside was the coveted MAPLE LEAF trophy. A shout went up as we all realized this was just an act to announce the beginning of the MAPLE LEAF Campaign. Dan Rea then appeared and joined Keith in being the boy's side leaders. Beth and Colleen started grabbing for the trophy along with the boys; but, it was securely held by Mr. Conway. The fight to see which side could get the most subs was long and close. After the Fall Picnic, chapel was held and we knew that soon the winner would be revealed. A scavenger hunt was planned for the side leaders with different hints given to each side. We all sat tensely as our leaders ran about madly following the instruction they found in strange places such as under the organ, on the lights. A shout went up as the boys finally found the trophy on the basketball backboards. The boys went wild with pride and the girls gave them a good hand for their endeavors.

Boys Take Trophy

Side leaders Keith Heinrich and Dan Rea stir up emotions as the guys await the verdict.

Showing true sportsmanship even in time of defeat, the girls carry Mrs. Lane on their shoulders.

A Christmas Fantasy

The evening was cool, crisp, and inviting. Snowflakes had been falling all day, and then a brisk wind came up from the northwest. All this set us in the mood for the highlight of the first semester: the Christmas banquet.

Tension and anticipation ran high in the dorms. Personal grooming was at its height. Painstakingly, hair was set in a half hour instead of the usual ten minutes.

Some typical questions in the girls' dorm were: "Shall I wear the white gloves, or do the black ones look better?" "What kind of perfume shall I use?" "On which side should I pin his boutonniere?"

The girls' dorm lobby was the central meeting place for the banquet couples. "Oos" and "ahs" could be heard as the girls caught the first glimpse of their corsages, and as the boys saw their dates at their loveliest.

Soft Christmas carols and the delicious aroma of the feast greeted us at the door as we entered the Hutchinson High School cafeteria.

After dinner, prepared beforehand by some of the students, Carolyn Olson welcomed us to "Christmas in Candyland." Acknowledgements were given for the beautiful backdrop and table decorations. Bonnie Haefner and Charles Shields played a Christmas medley at the piano. Joan Warner and Harold Smith sang the song "Silver Bells", after which Jan Bierlein and Mrs. Brown set the mood with the song, "It's Christmas Time in Candyland." The film was entitled "Almost Angels." The heartwarming story of the Vienna Choir Boys was the highlight of the evening.

All good things must come to an end, and so the banquet was brought to a close by the Choraliers' singing "Must be Santa", and "Toyland."

When all is still and the lights are out,
With none but the monitors creeping about,
You'll find a group who are slaving away
To get the Log done on the deadline day.

With nodding heads and groggy eyes,
We think of morning when we must rise
Bright and early, get up with the sun
And go to school with studies undone.

But never fear, for we don't mind.
Much satisfaction and joy we find
In preserving for you these memories dear
Of wonderful times and new friends met here.

We've done our best. What more could we do?
But present it proudly in hopes that you
Will leaf through its pages, find comfort and cheer,
And cherish it fondly for many a year.

First prize in the snapshot contest went to Jeff Lauritzen for this picture.

Snap Contest

This picture, taken by Roger Christiansen placed second in the contest.

Third prize went to Jeff Lauritzen.

Many times throughout the school year, life about our campus takes an unexpected turn and unusual and sometimes ridiculous things take place. Students are found in many varied situations. Sometimes someone manages to snap a picture, often to the chagrin of the subject. A snapshot contest was held, and many of these pictures have found their way into the pages of our Log. We hope you enjoy these little glimpses into the lighter side of school life.

The twig in all its winter beauty lies.
Its delicate buds sparkle with nature's icing.
An observant naturalist noticing its loveliness captures the twig in picture.
The photograph is later developed.
But wait! Something is wrong!
The sparkling white snow now appears black,
and the dull brown branch seems to be white.
The picture has been made a reverse print.
The naturalist is now the only one knowing of the twig in its true beauty.
Humans, so like the twig, too often are seen only as others recreate their image.
Yet, the master photographer knows their true beauty,
despite the reverse print given them by others.

Watch it or I'll whop you one.

I chopped down the cherry tree.

Go Butch!

Living it, man!

I always wanted to be a singer.

Every five minutes someone dies of brain cancer.

"And the moose jumped over the moon."

O.K. who snapped my suspenders?

Where's Jane?

Curly, what kind hair straightener did you use?

Voice lesson tomorrow!

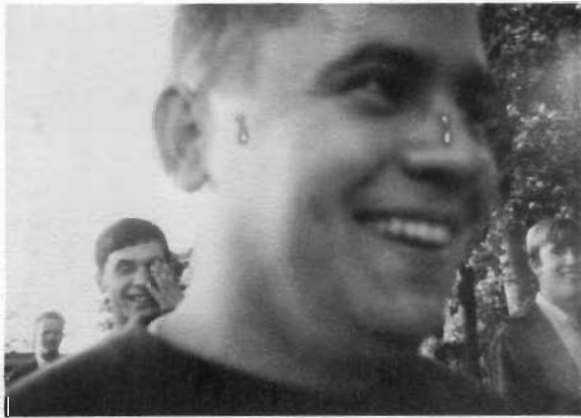

Queen of the Laundromat.

The wicked witch of East Hall.

Here I am, you lucky guys!

My nickname was "Corpulent" before I found Ayds.

Funny how your audience escaped you after 3 hrs. of lecturing!

Kathy "tucks a buck a day away."

I refuse to disclose my real identity!

What has two antennas and three legs?

Heckled

Yes, Burns Manor gave me the opportunity to associate with my own kind.

Go team, go!

Humans

Not such an angel, huh?

So on a date you must look happy even though you're bored stiff.

Now watch how its done Mr. Birch.
